The Silver Question-Recently, whilst the Virginia Farmers' Convention was in session in this city, we printed several articles on the silver queson. The importance of the full remonetigation of silver and of opening the mints to the free coinage of silver was urged upon Congress by us as it had been urged by the Farmers' Convention. There is nothing in which the farmers of Virginia and all wheatgrowers everywhere in this country are more deeply concerned than in the restoration of sliver to its proper place in the currency. No possible harm could result, seeing that Congress could at once repeal the law if pecessary as it did in 1864, or thereabouts, the law forbidding the sale of gold and It is as certain as any such proposition can be that the United States can find profitable use for all the silver that is produced in this country, and some zealously-streauous advocates of the free coinage of that metal claim that it has been demonstrated that the United States could absorb all the silver that Soubts as to the soundness of this latter opinion, but none as to the ability of our country to use profitably all the silver that she produces herself. To open the mints to the free coinage of silver would no doubt ettenulate the production of that metal; but the addition even of ten or twenty millions of dollars' worth to the present annual product would not in the slightest degree damage any interest. In fact, if all the currency in this country except coins worth tive dollars or less were silver certificates pased upon silver actually deposited in the Treasury, we should have the best circulating medium in the world. Rimetallism is growing in popularity in Europe, both on the continent and in Great If the United States will set the example Germany, England, France, Italy, and Spain will seen follow suit, and out of the movement may grow an international or universal circulating medium, which will pass, as the words imply, wherever there is a civilized and enlightened commercial com-

of bimetallism, though the present law regulating the coinage of silver was voted for by a large number of Republicans. The platforms of several Democratic National Conventions have decirred in favor of a erency of both silver and gold; and the Republicans have not been far behind the Democrats in this matter. But during the several campaigns neither party has upon brought the silver question to the front. This silence is not a little singular in view of the fact that the BLAND bill was passed over Mr. Haves's veto by a vote of 196 to 73 in the House of Representatives, and by a vote of 46 to 19 in the Senate. Both the Virginia Senators (Johnston and Withers) and, we be lieve, all the Virginia Democratic members of the House of Representatives, voted in the affirmative. By the way, the Virginia State Democratic Convention might possibly find it to the interest of the Democratic party to have a word to say on this subject in their platform of this year. The Republicans are siready fixing up a platform, no doubt, that will contain other things than their declaration that all the Republicans in Congress are in favor of abolishing the tobacco-tax.

Our attention was called to this subject by the following paragraph from the Indianapo-"The admission of four or five new Terri-

"The admission of four or five new Territories will probably have one result that does not seem to have entered very largely into the calculations that the politicians are making on the subject. It will give the friends of the double standard a majority in both Houses of Congress, and will lead to the early removal of all limitation on the coinage of sliver. It will probably force President Harrison to cast his lot with the sliver party at the start, or break with Con-President Harrison to cast his lot with the silver party at the start or break with Congress. The new States will probably make other important changes in existing political conditions that the statesmen at Washington are not counting on." Yes, we have often had occasion to emphasize this point-namely, that laws obstinately refuse to operate as their originators intended and expected them to operate. There is no telling what results are to follow the admission into the Union of four States containing such populations as five in Washington, Montana, North Daketa, and South Dakota. So also the election of Hannison will have consequences that his supporters have never for a moment had in mind. We shall be amongst those who rejoice whenever or by whomsoever the silver bill and the Cowles bill are passed.

Stanley-Again. The report received Friday that STANLEY would not return to civilization via either Zanzibar or the Congo, but intends to capture Khartoum and wrest the Soudan from the Mabdi, was followed vesterday by a report from the Niangwe country that he was lecting men to make a big war upon the ribes to the northward. These bits of news, if news they really can be called, are confirmatory of each other, and while it would not be safe to accept them without a great deal of question it is none the less a fact that they bear some semblance of probability. Despite the difficulty of obtaining intelligence from the heart of the Dark Continent and in face of STANLEY's avowal that his object was the rescue of Eurs Bey, there is the suggestion of a mystery—the suggestion of something behind the scenes connected with intrepid explorer's mission. Cerit is that on his return from trip to Exis's territors to a place where to all appearances he had an opportunity for advising the curious and ted civilized world regarding his wanderings, the information on that point which might have been reasonably expected was ot forthcoming. A short and rather unsatisfactory message was received from him, and then he plunged into the jungle again, presumably on his way back to Wadelai. If he sent to civilization any detailed account of what he had accomplished or what he hoped to accomplish it has not been given to public. There were rumors that the English Government were possessed of some important facis regarding the explorer; but If such was the case these facts were care-Convidering STANLEY'S record, his audicity, his ambition, and his summary methods of design with the natives when consion requires, it can be readily understands.

stood that he would not hesitate to attempt ne reespture of Khartoum and the there was any chance of success. The as existing in the Souden and the contiguous southern country would seem to indicate that the time is favorable for stirring up revolt against the Mahdi; and thus additional plausibility is given to the reports of STANLEY's operations and designs. Moreover the situation as it appears to the outside world, and the reports referred to in the opening of this article, must be considered in conjunction with the statement which has been made more than once that STANLEY had a secret understanding with the British Government, and some months sgo a secret expedition oft England for Central Africa. It will not do to assume positively that STANLEY'S mission is not exactly what it was originally the sum of $1,000 for his appearance. This beraided to be, but under all the elecum-stances the public are justified in entertaining stances the public are justified in entertaining a suspicion of doubt and looking for some interesting developments.

Mr. Daniel's Speech We are pleased to see in the leading paper in Rhode Island the following :

"Senator Daniel's eloquent speech Saturday was a strong, though naturally not new, defence of the true doctrine of State rights, and he exposed with quite sufficient clearness the unconstitutionality and the clearness the unconstitutionality and the foily of such an investigation as is proposed in the Hoar resolution. To note but one of the constitutional questions raised, it is certainly not much short of revolutionary for the senate to propose an inquiry into the election of members of the House when by the express terms of the Constitution the House is made the sole fudge of the election of the constitution and the constitution of the House is made the sole fudge of the elec-House is made the sole judge of the election of its own members. In the popular mind, however, it is not constitutional objections so much as the objections of experience that welgh against Senator Hoar's propesal. The country tried this blau of settling southern questions with the utmost thoroughness in former years, when the conditions were much more favorable to success than they could be now. The attempt was a bopeless failure, and was voluntarily abandoned as such by the party that began it. Failure would follow just as certainly now; and that without going into the subtleties of coostitutional interpretation, is a sufficient argument against the Hoar resolution."

We would fain hope-bope against hopethat a majority of the northern people will take the same view of this matter as that taken by the Providence Journal.

WEST VIRGINIA MATTERS .- GOFF, WILSON, and CARR all claim to have the right to be Governor of West Virginia on and after the 4th of March-Cane, because as the newlychosen President of the Senate, he is Lieuproduced in the world. We have some tenant-Governor, and, so he claims, has the right to bold the office of Governor until the contest between FLEMING and GOFF shall have been decided.

The reader must not forget that the Democratic candidate for Attorney-General was elected by a good majority. Mr. CLEVE-LAND also carried the State by a good masjority. There is no lieutenant-governor elected by the people. Chairman Cownen, of the Republican State Committee, said a few days ago to an interviewer for the Wheeling Intelligencer: "When Geff demands his seat Wilson will of course refuse to surrender it. Then Goff will appeal to the courts and push his peaceful remedy to the end."

GOFF's friends have lost hope. They have sent to Mr. Harmson a document signed by the Republican members of the Legislature reciting the course of the Democrats in that body with regard to the returns for Governor, in view of which course the Republicans say they expect no justice in the determination of the contest, and request General Harrison to honor the Republican party the Republicans are the recognized advocates in the State by inviting General Goff to a We second the nomination, or would if

It is now reported from Washington that when Mr. Randall calls up in the House, as he intends to do in a day or two, the Cowles bill to repeal the tobacco-tax Mr. Mills threatens to filibuster to defeat it even if it uples all the remainder of the session. February 20, 1889.
The work of improving the post-office at this place will begin this week and will be pushed forward very rapidly. The building as it is now is not well suited for an office, but it will be enlarged and fitted up as a first class post-office, with all the recent equipments. Some three hundred Yale boxes will be placed in the building. This boxes will be placed in the building. The improvement has long been needed and our citizens are glad to know that the post-office authorities have at last recognized the fact. William Musco alias Jorden, the negro murderer confined in Jail bere sentenced to be banged on March 16th, is reported to be progressing rapidly in religious matters. Musco when first placed in jall spent his time in singing all kinds of comic songs and time in singing all kinds of comic songs and was very blasphemous, but now he has quieted down considerably and is beginning to realize the enormity of his crime and the awful doom that awaits him. The murderer has been visited several times by the colored parsons of this city and they have given him spiritual advice. He now claims that he has gotten religion and is ready for the end.
